KOREC expands UK Trimble footprint with new SEP Geospatial reseller agreement

KOREC Group is delighted to announce the consolidation of its relationship with sales, hire and service providers, SEP Geospatial. Under the terms of a new agreement, which is effective immediately, SEP Geospatial will become a KOREC reseller for Trimble Geospatial in the UK.

The new agreement entitles SEP Geospatial to resell Trimble Geospatial products into the construction sector. Through this agreement, KOREC, as the authorised Trimble dealer in the UK and Ireland, will seek to strengthen its presence in the onsite construction market.

The KOREC agreement puts in place a structure to accommodate the growing demand for Trimble technology within the UK and to enable a greater Trimble presence within new markets whilst ensuring that the high level of expertise and service experienced by existing customers is continued into new areas.

Trimble customers working in the construction sector will additionally benefit from SEP Geospatial's 30 years of industry experience, Trimble product knowledge and its in-house support and hire services.

Alan Browne, CEO, KOREC said:

"The demand for Trimble Geospatial solutions in the UK is at an all-time high with increasing popularity in the Geospatial and Construction sector. Through this agreement with SEP we strengthen our continued partnership to deliver market leading Trimble solutions and services to the UK construction market."

Oliver Brooks, Managing Director, SEP Geospatial said:

"We are excited to support the growing adoption of Trimble in the UK and this new partnership with KOREC enables us to support our customers with the best-in-class products they need backed up by our technical support and service operations."
